Local Business Calls on Community to Help Provide Coats for Kids in Foster Care

AcuDENT-Painless Dent Repair will host their 3rd Annual Dents for Kids initiative to benefit tweens and teens in foster care at Boys & Girls Haven.

Louisville, KY – AcuDENT-Painless Dent Repair and Boys & Girls Haven are partnering for a third year to provide winter coats to young adults in foster care in exchange for automotive dent repairs. Every Friday in December, any customer donating a junior or adult-sized winter coat valued at $50 or greater will receive up to one, 3-inch dent repair, a $159 value, for free.

Through their relationship with Boys & Girls Haven, AcuDENT's Dents for Kids program has helped over 150 tweens and teens in foster care stay warm since 2015.

"During Christmas, everyone thinks about the younger kids and wants to give toy trucks and Barbies, which is great. But we fail to think about the 12-year-old that was just removed from a horrible situation and has nothing. So being able to provide a nice winter coat to these young adults does more than just meet a physical need, it also reassures them that someone out there cares," said Gavin Reherman, owner of AcuDENT.

"We strive every day to return a sense of normalcy to the lives of young people in foster care," says Boys & Girls Haven. "The community's participation in AcuDENT's Dents for Kids program helps us provide a warm winter coat for every child under our roof. Thank you for helping make the holidays brighter for these kids who have experienced so much disappointment in their lives. Your support shows our kids just how much people care about them and their well-being. Thank you!"

Founded in 1950, Boys & Girls Haven offers a variety of programs to meet the needs of over 800 tweens and teens in foster care each year from across the state of Kentucky. The kids they serve have come to Boys & Girls Haven to heal from abuse and neglect. Through trauma-informed therapy and a warm, caring environment, Boys & Girls Haven gives these kids a sense of belonging and a home.

AcuDENT strives to be the number one painless dent repair in the Louisville, KY area through premier customer service and flawless dent repair. Through painless dent repair techniques, AcuDENT is able to repair automotive dents caused by door dings, minor collision, and hail damage. The PDR technicians use tools to shape the already existing metal back in its original place. This eliminates the need for completely new metal making it an environmentally friendly process. Since 2004, AcuDENT has served clients from its retail shop, located at 3275 Newburg Rd, and from several reputable car dealerships and body shops in the area.
